

You Can Stop Procrastination Today!: Never Put Off Tomorrow What You Can Do Today!

The best trait most procrastinators have is high optimism. They are optimistic about their ability to delay a certain task and complete it later in a shorter amount of time. Their high hopes often keep them in this cycle of future procrastination. Procrastinators also have the ability to prioritize. They believe certain things are more urgent and demanding of their time, so they tend to give action to those things instead. In this new book you will be surprised to learn you can eat your cake and have it too. It is possible to balance the negatives against the positives and still come out on top!
