

Elite Business Leaders: Conversations With Elite Professionals (Cynthia Rando Book 1)

Conversations with Elite Business Professionals from around the US. Sharing actionable content for the reader. Cynthia had spent 12 years at NASA working in various capacities that lead to developing a broad skill set that would be great for consulting. The timing last November was finally right given some contract volatility that was occurring. She had been working behind the scenes for 2 years prior to establishing the consulting firm legally in the preparation of following this path full time. Cynthia had always wanted to own her own business, it was just a matter of spending the time acquiring the right suite of skills and having the right mechanisms in place to give it a go.
