

Everything I Ever Needed to Know About Business, I Learned in the Strip Club: How to use Real World Skills to Take Care of Business (For Women Only Book 2)

Everything useful I learned came from the school of life, whether it was personal business or the kind that chased the coin. It came from the shadows that darted around the edge of approval. It came from the tired people who had already worn all the costumes of all the actors in all the plays. It came from the enemy predator whose prize was always fluctuating. It was a fluid study that began in the middle and ended with the incomplete promise that everything was going to be ok, and if things werent ok, then it wasnt the end, and we should go back to the middle and carry on.
